Convener: Marta E. Ghidella

AGENDA

1. Welcome and introductory speech (Marta Ghidella) - 14-14.10
2. Oveview of ADMAP progress (Marta Ghidella) - 14.10-14.25
   - Highlights of the Tectonophysics volume of ADMAP scientific papers
   - Keeping track of magnetic surveys completed and being planned
   - Website updates
3. Invited short talks:
   - The IceGrav Project: Long-rage airborne Geophysics in the Antarctic Peninsula and East Antarctica (Rene Forsberg) – Confirmed - 14.25 - 14.40
   - Recent scientific advances and progress due to magnetic surveys (Fausto Ferraccioli, presented by M. Ghidella) – Confirmed - 14.40-14.50
   - BEDMAP II (Hamish Pritchard) – Confirmed - 14.50-15.00
   - Gravity and Geoid in Antarctica (Mirko Scheinert) – 15.00 -15.10
   - Aerogeophysical investigations off Dronning Maud Land (Wilfried Jokat) - Confirmed - 15.10 - 15.25
   - ICECAP data over the periphery of East Antarctic (Duncan Young) - 15.25 - 15.35
   - State of Antarctic satellite magnetic anomaly mapping (Hyung Rae Kim) - Confirmed - 15.35 - 15.45
   - Aeromagnetic Surveys during GEA expeditions 2010/11 and 2011/12 (Detlef Damaske – Matthias Mieth) - Confirmed - 15.45 – 16.00
4. ADMAP problems =>
   - to compile the next generation ADMAP map
   - to acquire an ADMAP data manager
5. Discussion and possible solutions or plans for the way forward.
   - Exchange experiences and ideas with representatives from BEDMAP and AntGG (IAG Subcommission 2.4f "Gravity and Geoid in Antarctica").
   - Approaching the NGDC or the World Data Centers for support of ADMAP's archival functions
   - Should ADMAP be closed down?
   - Shall we continue on the hope that submitted proposals will be funded?
6. Election of a new contact person.
